

The colorful world of Pandas

The colorful world of Pandas

To celebrate our community's creativity and diversity, we put together the first BigPanda coloring book - 16 fun Pandas, each with their own story, each ready for you to make even more special with your artistic flair!

Pride Panda

Of course, we are starting with our Pride Panda - our most colorful Panda of all!

Pride Panda was created in June 2020 to honor Pride month. Pride month celebrates the 1969 Stonewall Uprising in Manhattan, which was a tipping point for the Gay Liberation Movement in the United States. The purpose of this commemorative month is to recognize the impact that lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender individuals have had on history locally, nationally, and internationally.

Show your colors - and remember, you don't need to stay within the lines!

Pretty as a Pansy Panda

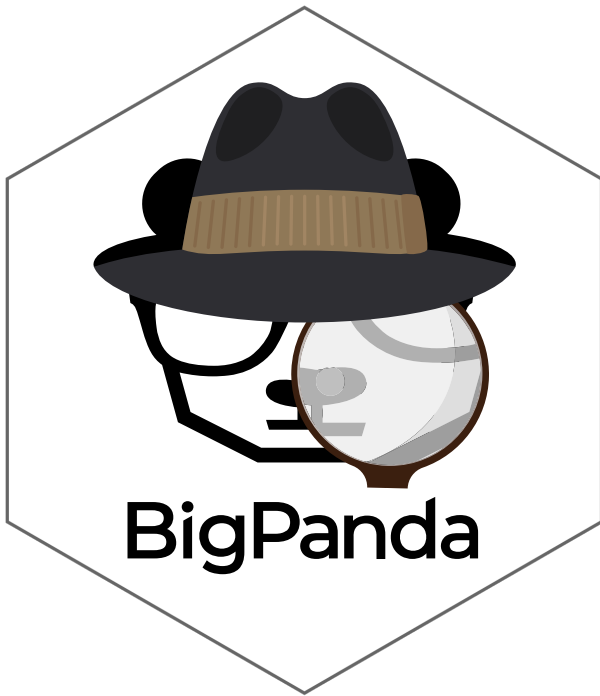

This beautiful - and soon, very colorful - Panda was created to honor Mother's Day.

Mother's Day originated in 1905. In 1914, President Woodrow Wilson signed a proclamation making Mother's Day an official holiday, to take place the second Sunday of May.

Since that celebration happens around the time of the Kentucky Derby, we thought it was a fitting background for our Panda with the flouncy hat!

Part Southern tradition, part spectacle, the Kentucky Derby hat parade is much of what makes "The Greatest Two Minutes in Sports" one of the greatest people-watching events in the world!

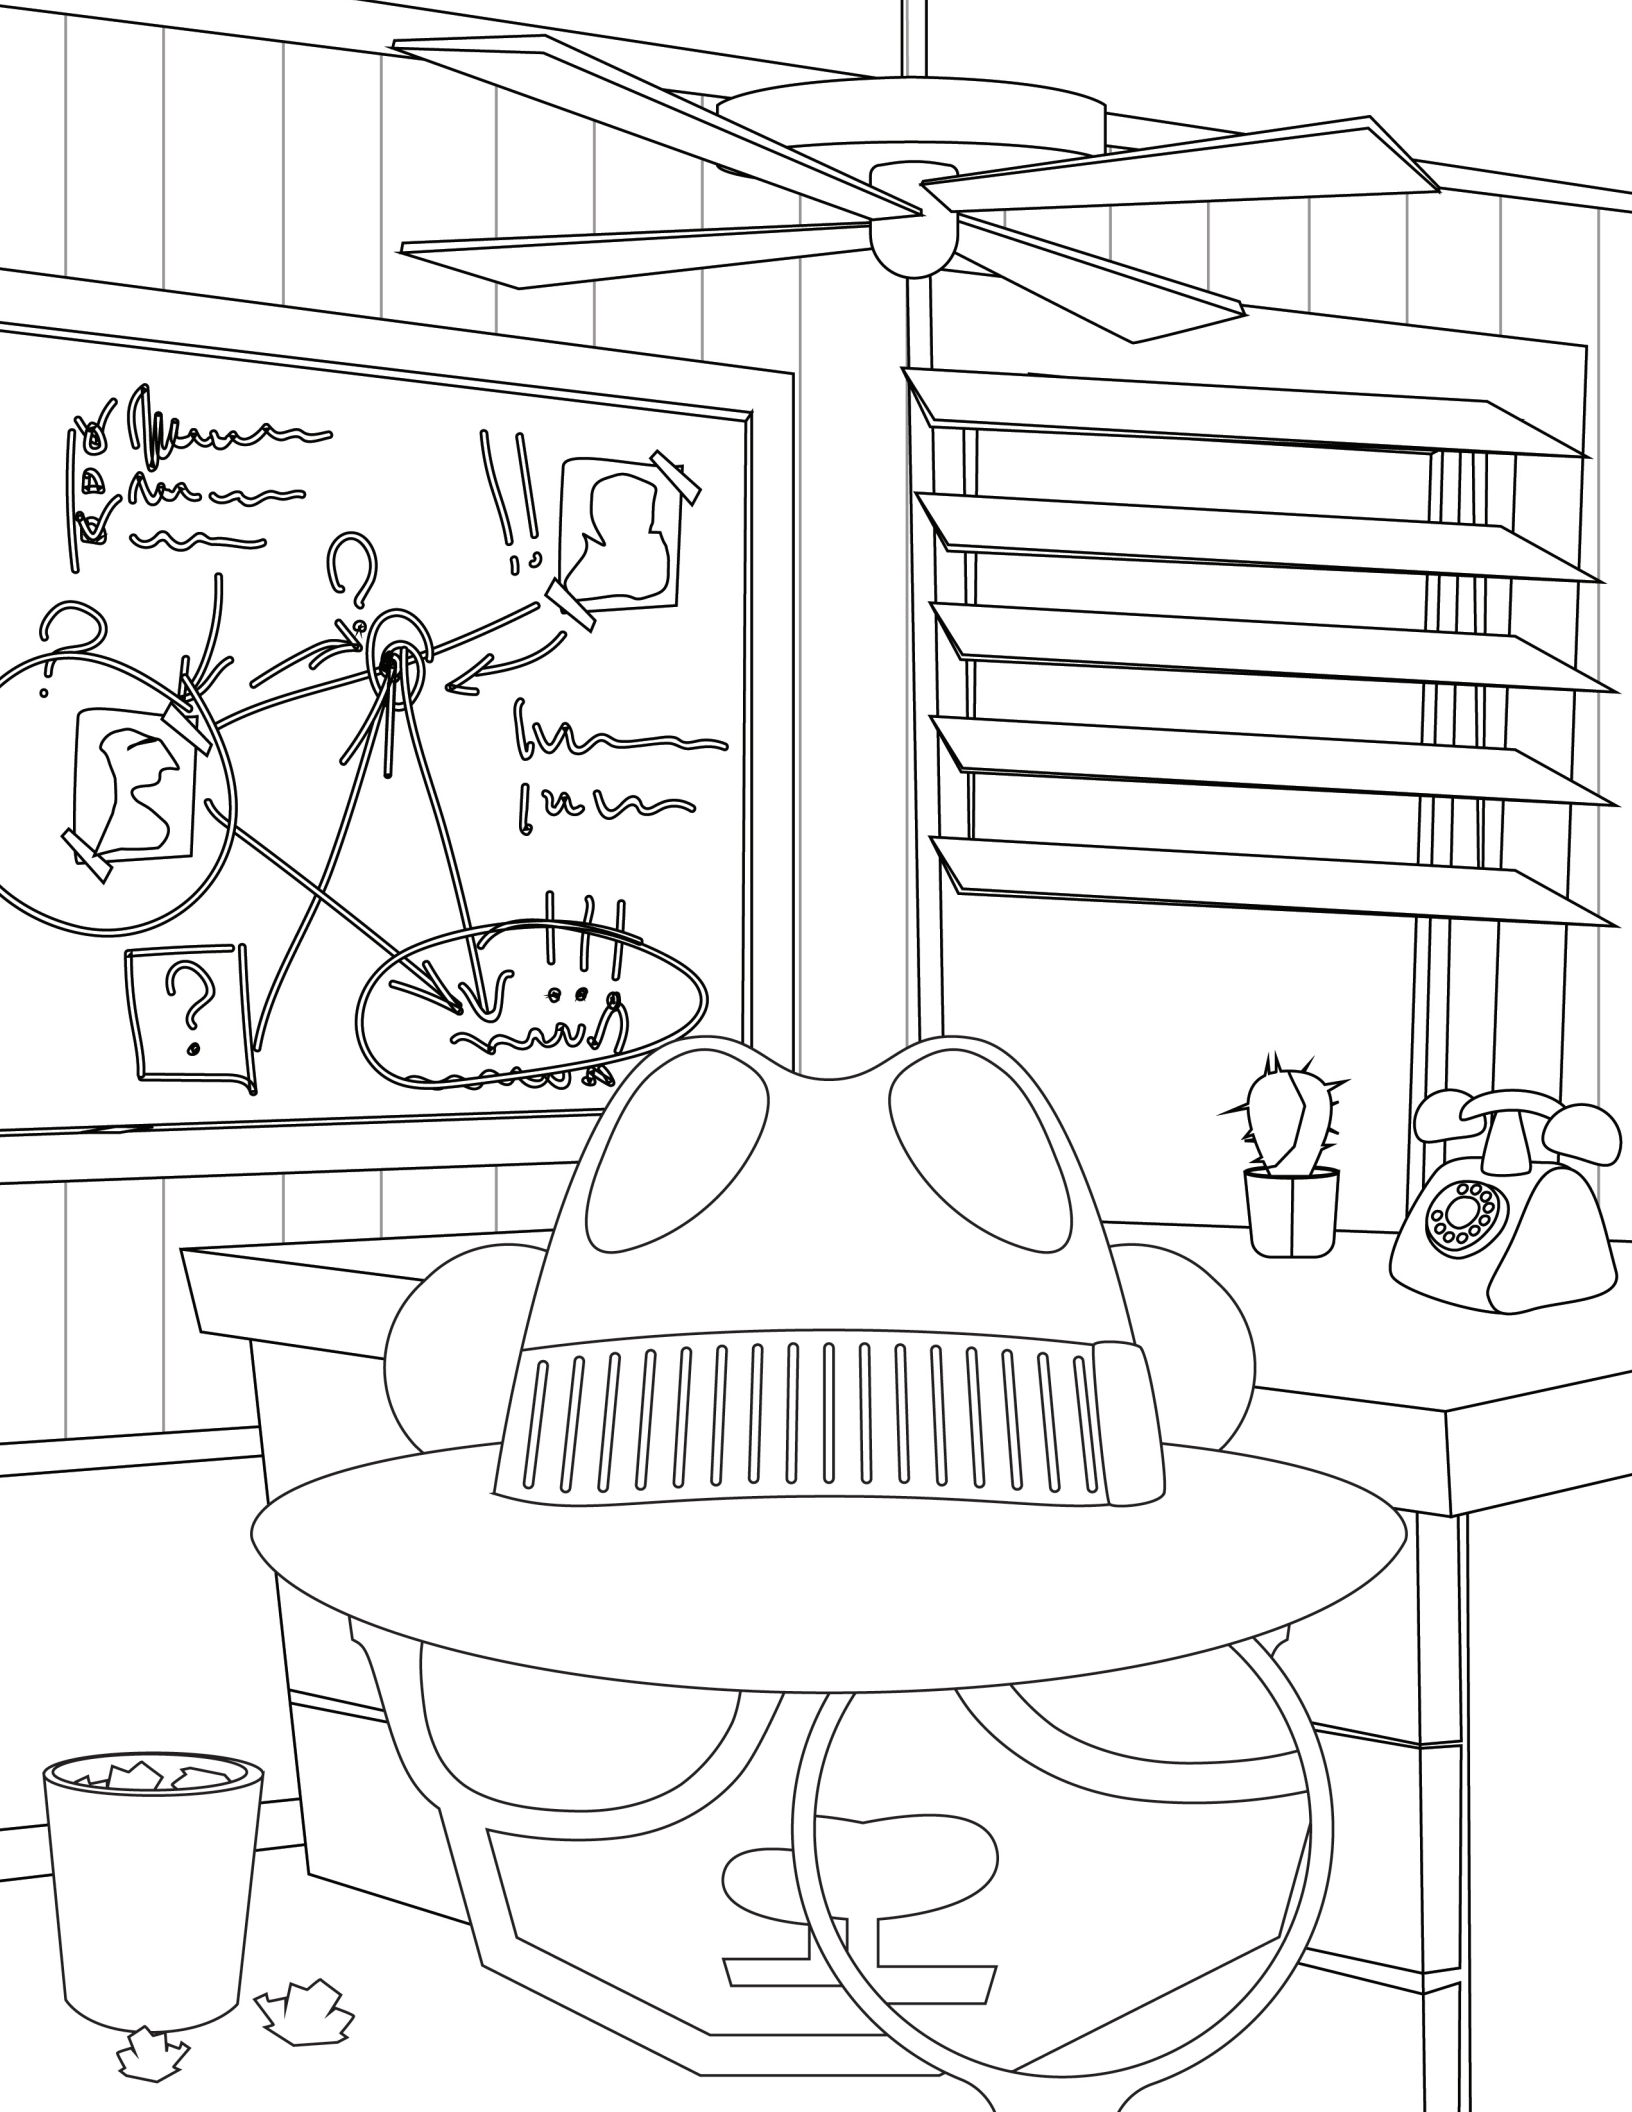

Detective Panda

Avoiding an outage and investigating the cause of a poorly performing application are two of the biggest challenges that IT Ops, NOC, DevOps and SRE teams face today.

By harnessing the power of AIOps, Detective Panda is able to pinpoint the root cause of incidents and outages in real-time. Remember, when you are drowning in alert noise, call BigPanda. We're on the case.

Bees Knees Panda

The phrase “bee’s knees” was popular slang, originating in the 1920s. It was used to call something excellent or outstanding. We think our customer success team is truly the bee’s knees. They recently created a lot of buzz when they won the prestigious Silver Stevie® Award for “Customer Service Department of the Year.”

Ten honey bee fun facts

1. Bees have five eyes
2. Bees fly about 20 mph
3. Number of eggs laid by queen bee: 2,000 per day!
4. Bees have been around for about 30 million years!
5. An average beehive can hold 50,000 bees
6. Forager bees must collect nectar from about two million flowers to make one pound of honey
7. The average forager makes about 1/12 th of a teaspoon of honey in her lifetime
8. Bees have two pairs of wings
9. Honey bees communicate using chemicals called phermones
10. Bees are important because they pollinate approximately 130 agricultural crops in the U.S.

Falling for Panda

For years, scientists have worked to understand the changes that occur in trees and shrubs during autumn. Three factors influence autumn leaf color: leaf pigments, length of night and weather.

The timing of color changes and the onset of falling leaves are primarily regulated by the calendar as nights become longer. As days grow shorter, and nights grow longer and cooler, biochemical processes in the leaf begin to paint the landscape with nature's autumn palette.

There's more to fall color than just red! Get out your yellow, orange, tan, green, purple, maroon and burgundy crayons to create fall beauty on this page.

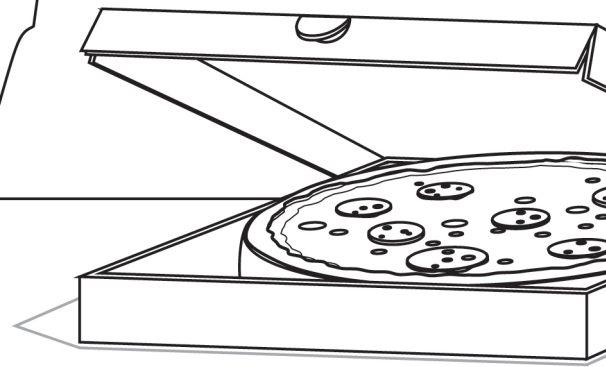

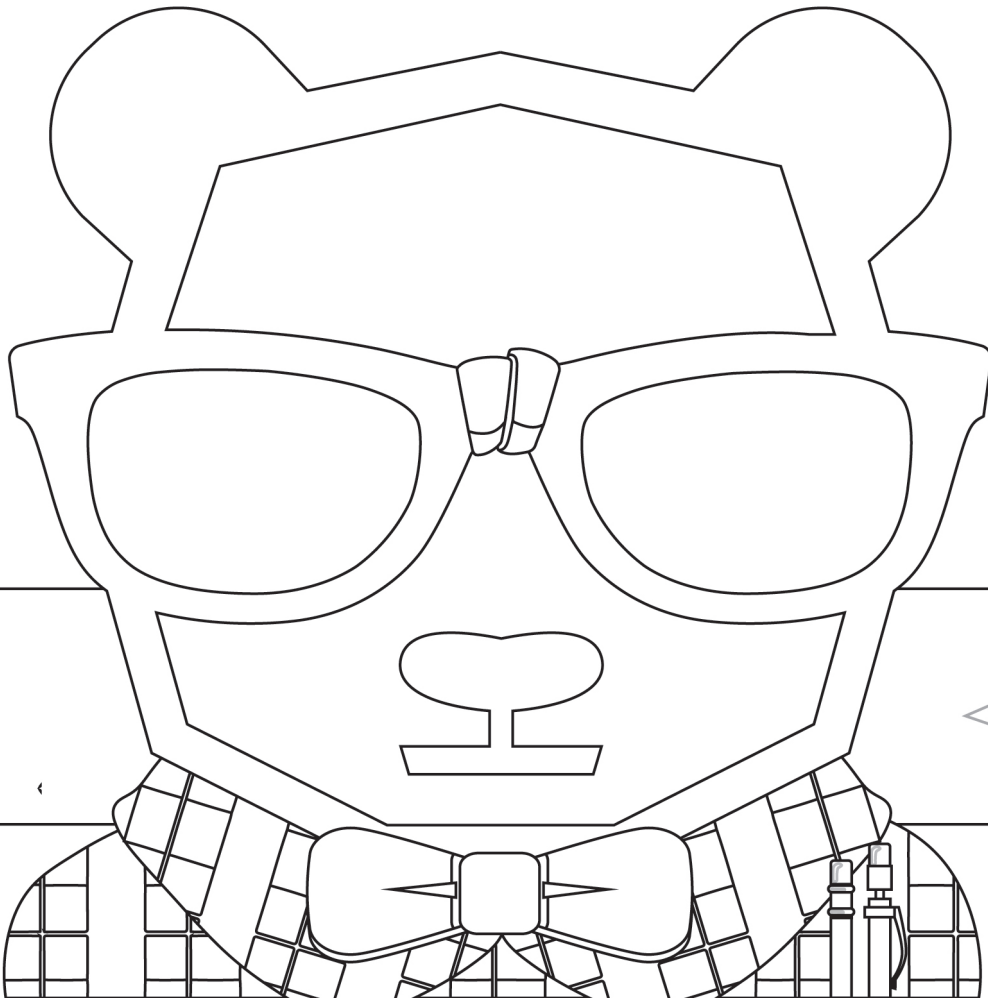

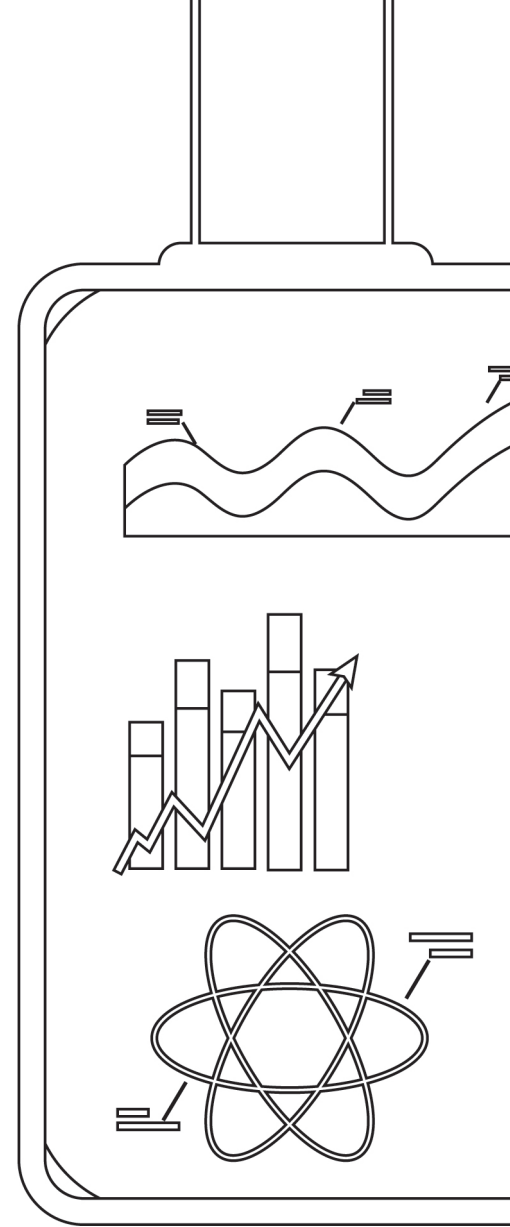

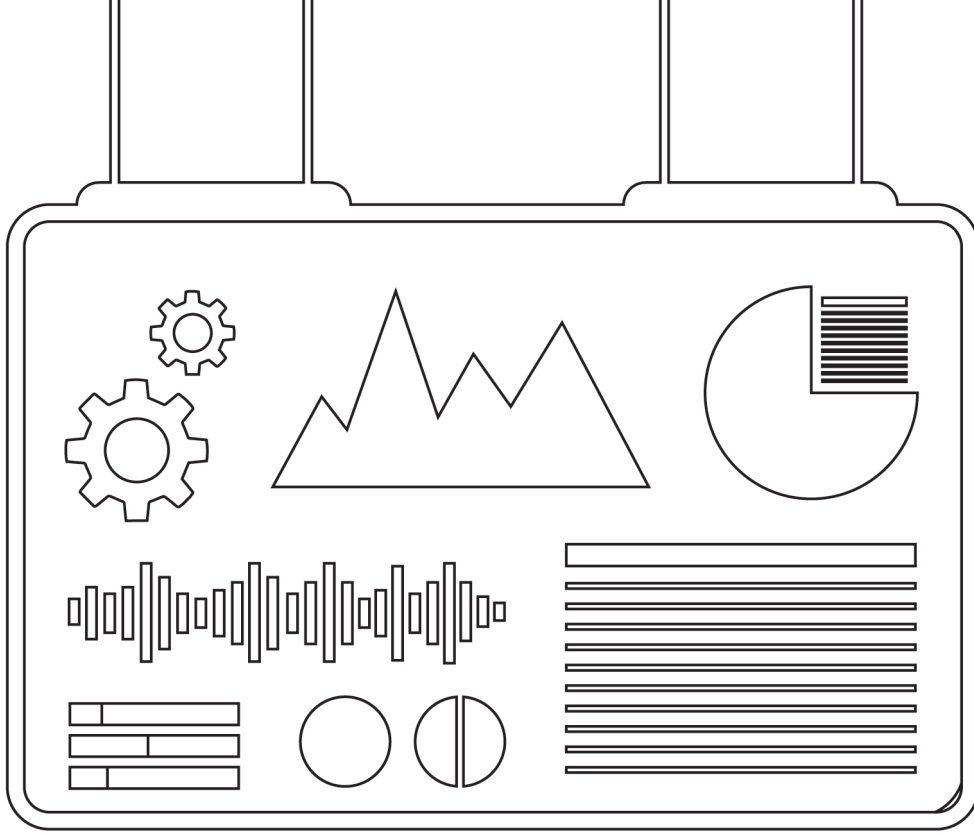

SmartyPants Panda

Whether you are a part of an IT Ops team, in the NOC, a DevOps engineer or an SRE, you know that there are three essential criteria for running successful IT operations today:

1. Reduce operating costs
2. Increase performance and availability
3. Accelerate business velocity

That's where the power of AIOps comes in.

With SmartyPants Panda by your side, deploy Event Correlation and Automation to meet that criteria. With the five-phased PANDA rollout methodology, you can implement a pragmatic, domain-agnostic AIOps strategy that delivers value within weeks... not years.

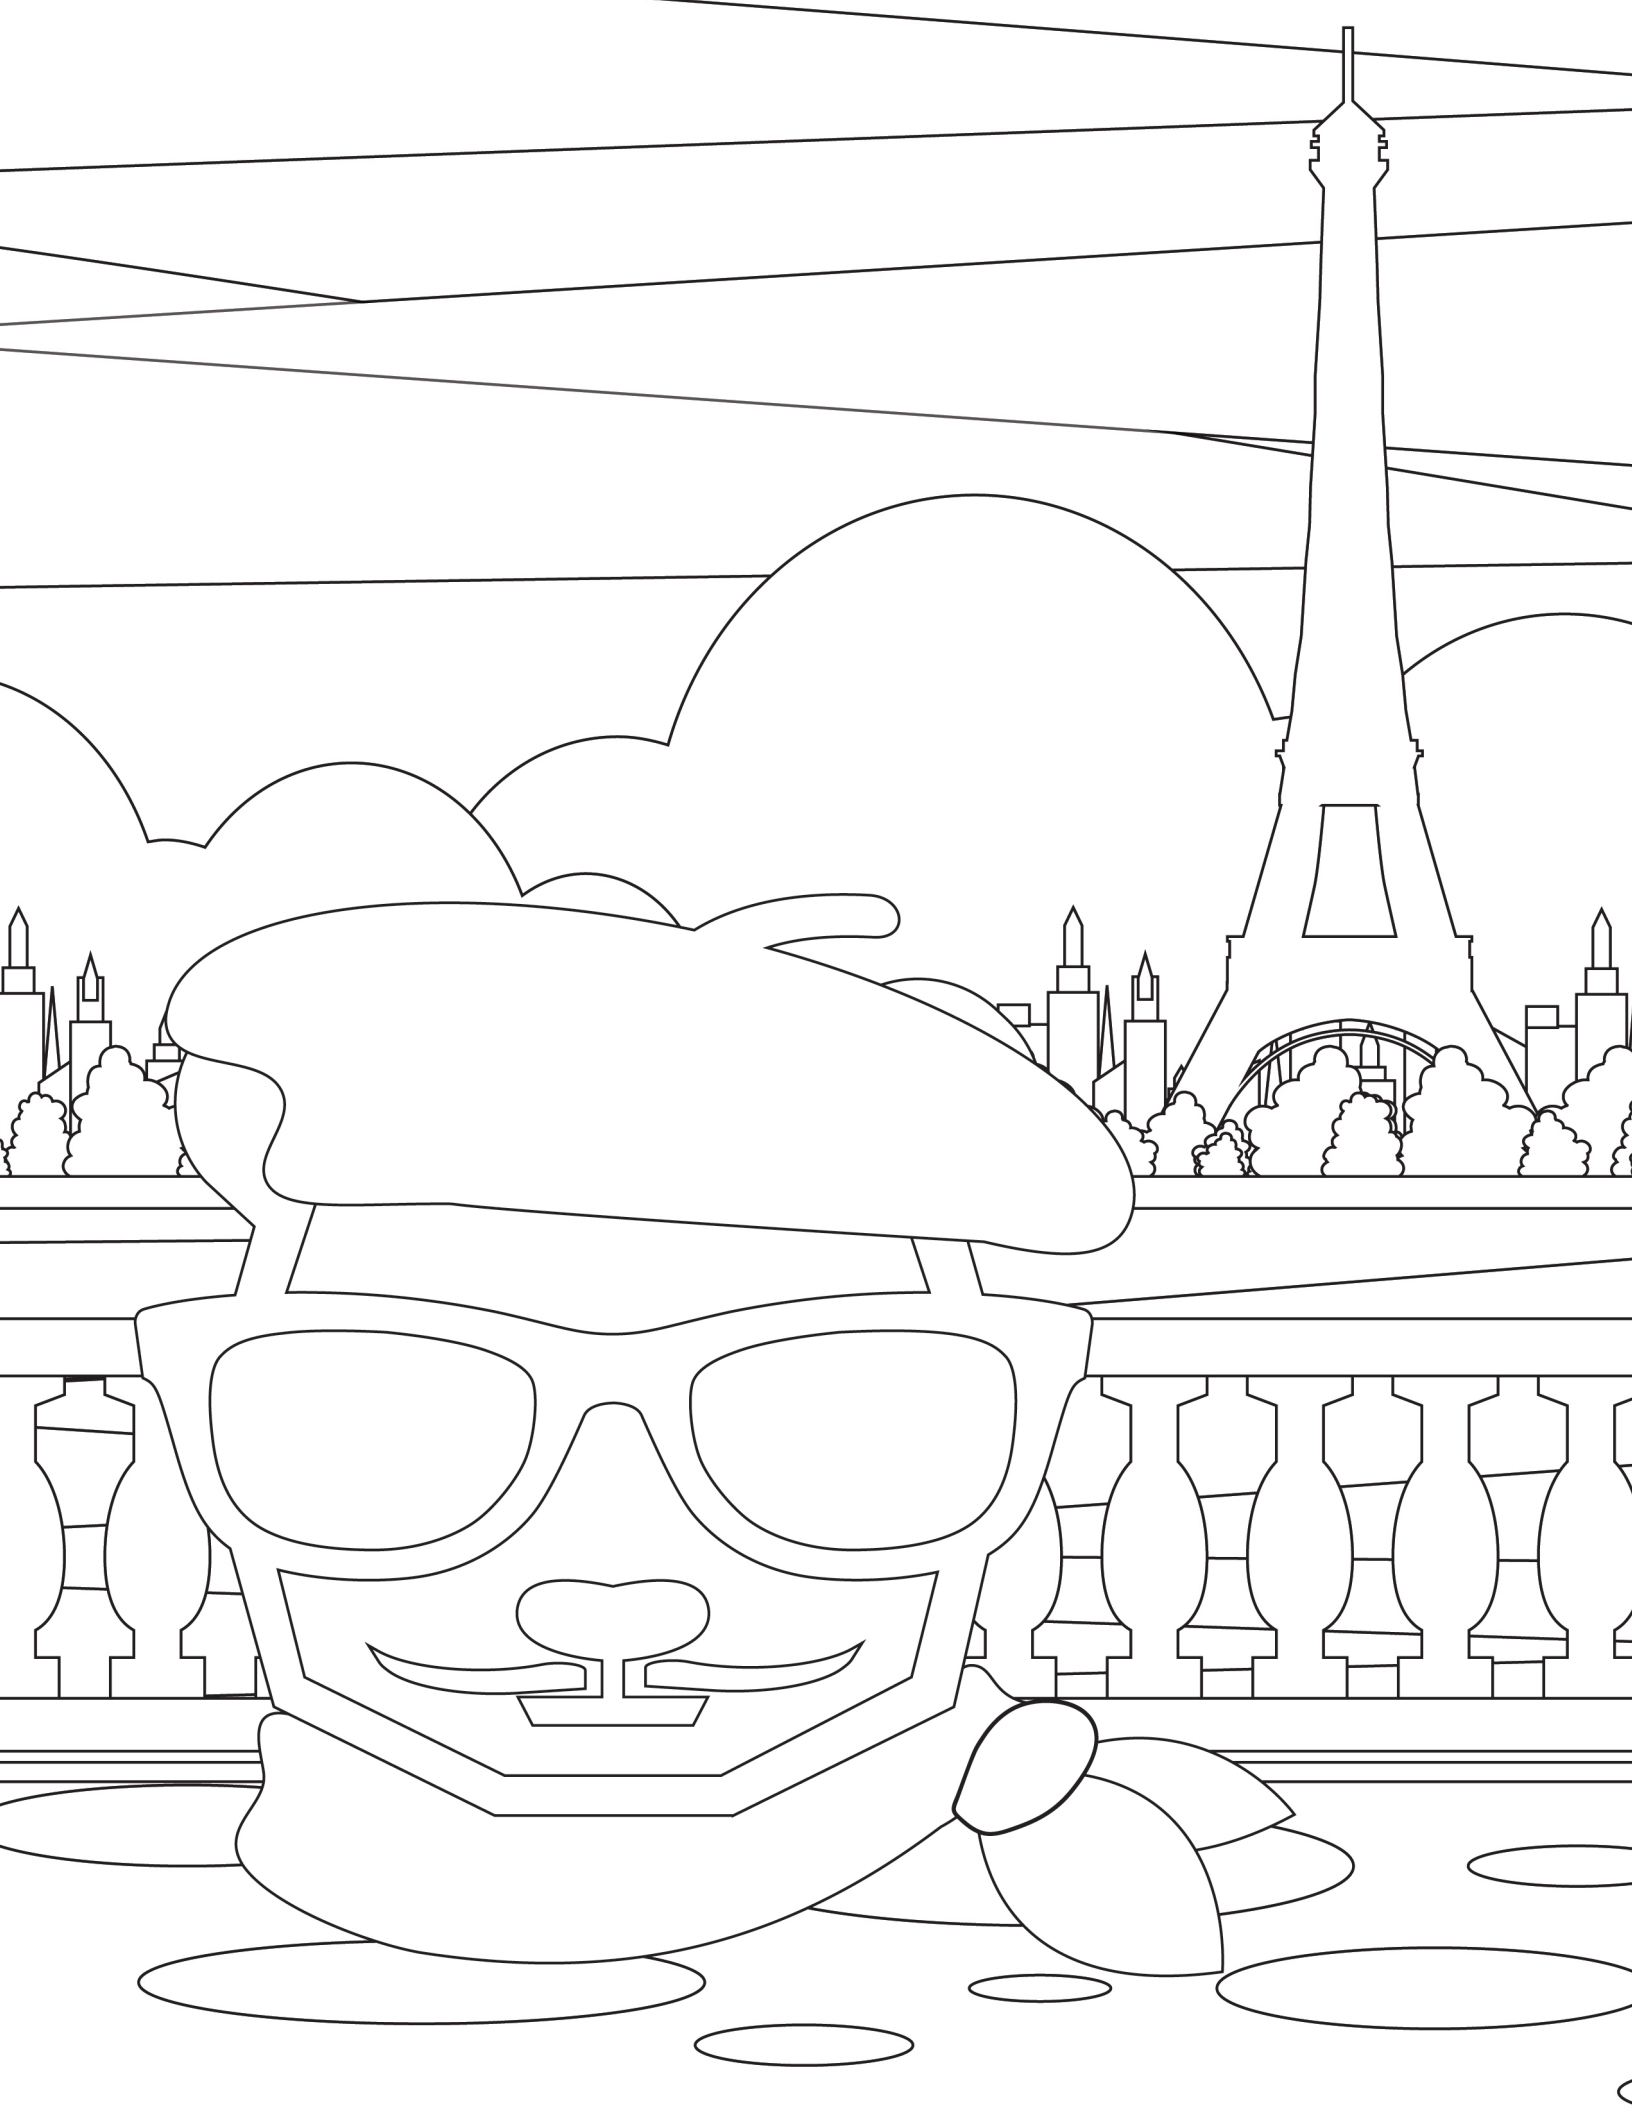

Pierre Panda

Whether you're lucky enough to have visited Paris, or have only ever dreamed of going there, chances are you know of the French capital's most beloved landmark: the Eiffel Tower.

The Eiffel Tower, "La Tour Eiffel" in French, was the main exhibit of the Paris Exposition — or World's Fair — of 1889. It was constructed to commemorate the centennial of the French Revolution and to demonstrate France's industrial prowess to the world.

Seven Eiffel Tower fun facts

1. Gustave Eiffel used latticed wrought iron to construct the tower to demonstrate that metal could be as strong as stone, while also being lighter.
2. Eiffel also created the internal frame for the Statue of Liberty.
3. The tower was built to sway slightly in the wind, but the sun affects the tower more. As the sun-facing side of the tower heats up, the top moves as much as seven inches (18 centimeters) away from the sun.
4. The sun also causes the tower to grow about six inches.
5. The Eiffel Tower weighs 10,000 tons.
6. There are five billion lights on the Eiffel Tower.
7. The French have a nickname for the tower: La Dame de Fer, "the Iron Lady."

Rambo Panda

Did you know that Sylvester Stallone hated the first cut of the first Rambo film, First Blood, so much that he tried to buy the film back and destroy it? When he couldn't do that, he suggested that the producers cut much of his part and let the rest of the characters tell the story. That cut the movie time in half and set a precedent for future action movies.

Goes to show that what looks like a failure at first, may actually turn into a worldwide blockbuster. "Rambo Six," anyone?

Bring out your greens for this jungle scene.

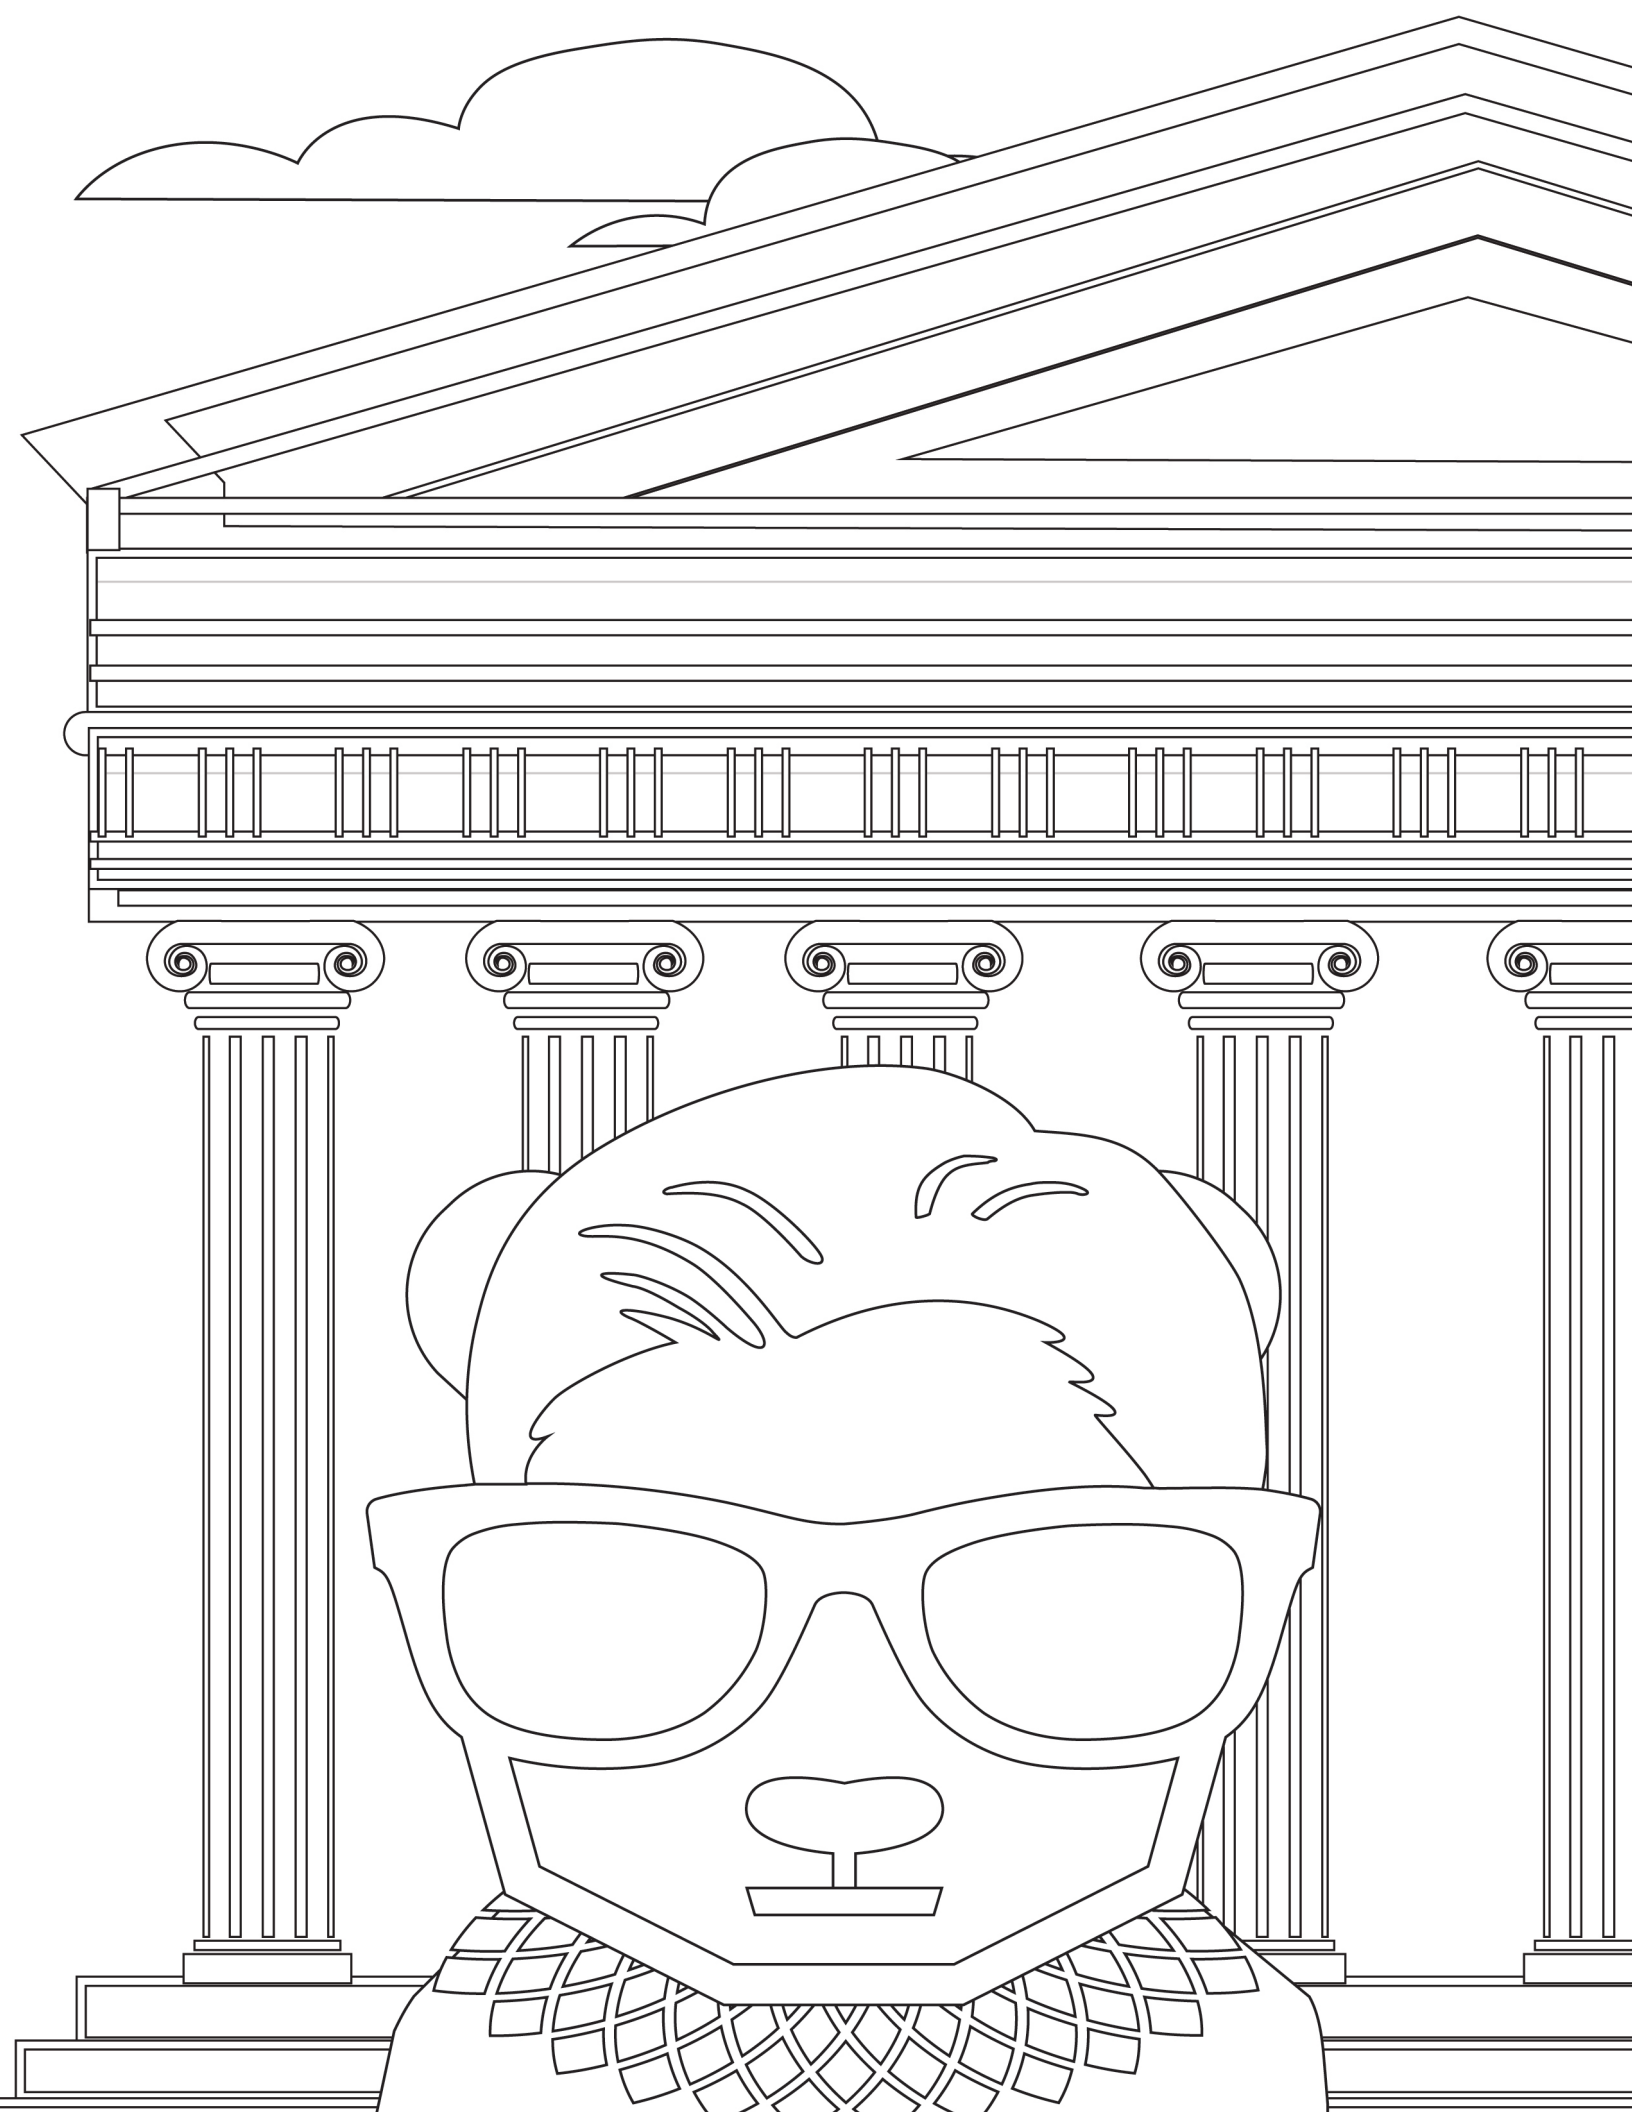

RBG Panda

Ruth Bader Ginsburg served as a United States Supreme Court justice from 1993 until her death in 2020. As the second woman to sit on the nation's top court, she fought fiercely for women's rights, for herself and others.

Notorious RBG died on Friday, September 18, 2020 in Washington, D.C. She was 87. Memorials were held around the country. Thousands of people brought flowers and lit candles. They carried signs quoting her: "Women belong in all places where decisions are being made," read some. "Fight for the things you care about, but do it in a way that will lead others to join you," read others.

RBG, we concur!

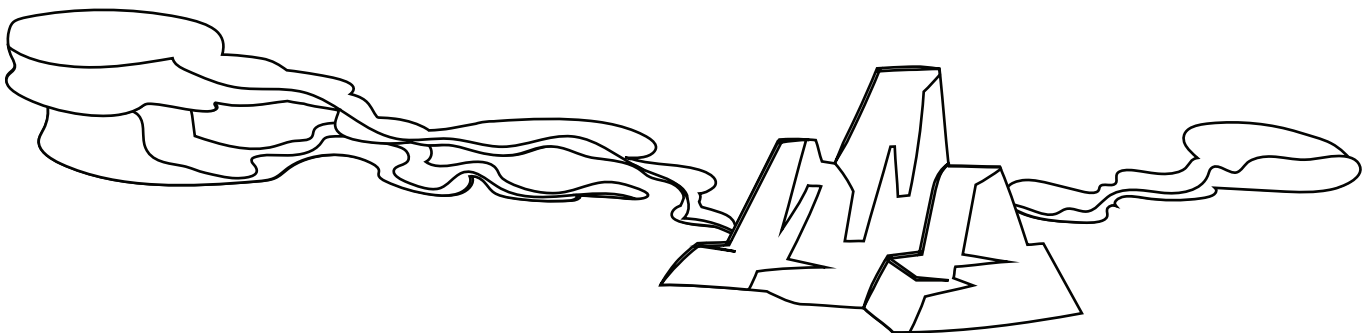

Pandalorian Panda

After the stories of Jango and Boba Fett, another warrior emerges in the Star Wars universe. “The Mandalorian” (or as we like to call him, Pandalorian) is set after the fall of the Empire and before the emergence of the First Order.

Unlike the character in the series, no one is ever alone at BigPanda. We even build collaboration into our platform!

Bobby Panda

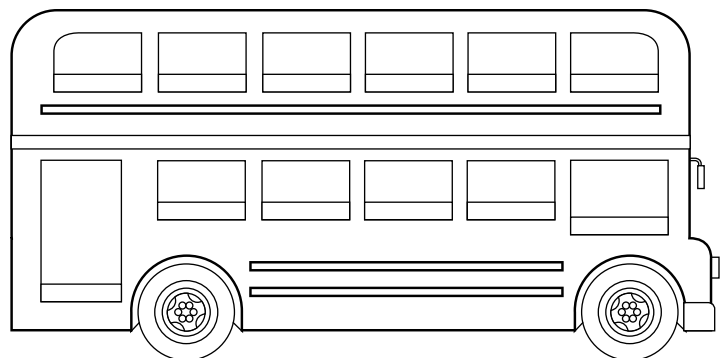

English policemen were called “bobbies” in honor of Robert Peel who set up the first organized police service in London, 1829. Bobby is short for Robert.

This Bobby is guarding the Elizabeth Tower, also known as Big Ben.

Big Ben is the nickname for the Great Bell of the clock at the north end of the Palace of Westminster in London and is usually extended to refer to both the clock and the clock tower. The tower is officially known as Elizabeth Tower, renamed to celebrate the Diamond Jubilee of Elizabeth II in 2012; previously, it was known simply as the Clock Tower.

A British cultural icon, the tower is one of the most prominent symbols of the United Kingdom and is often in the establishing shot of films set in London.

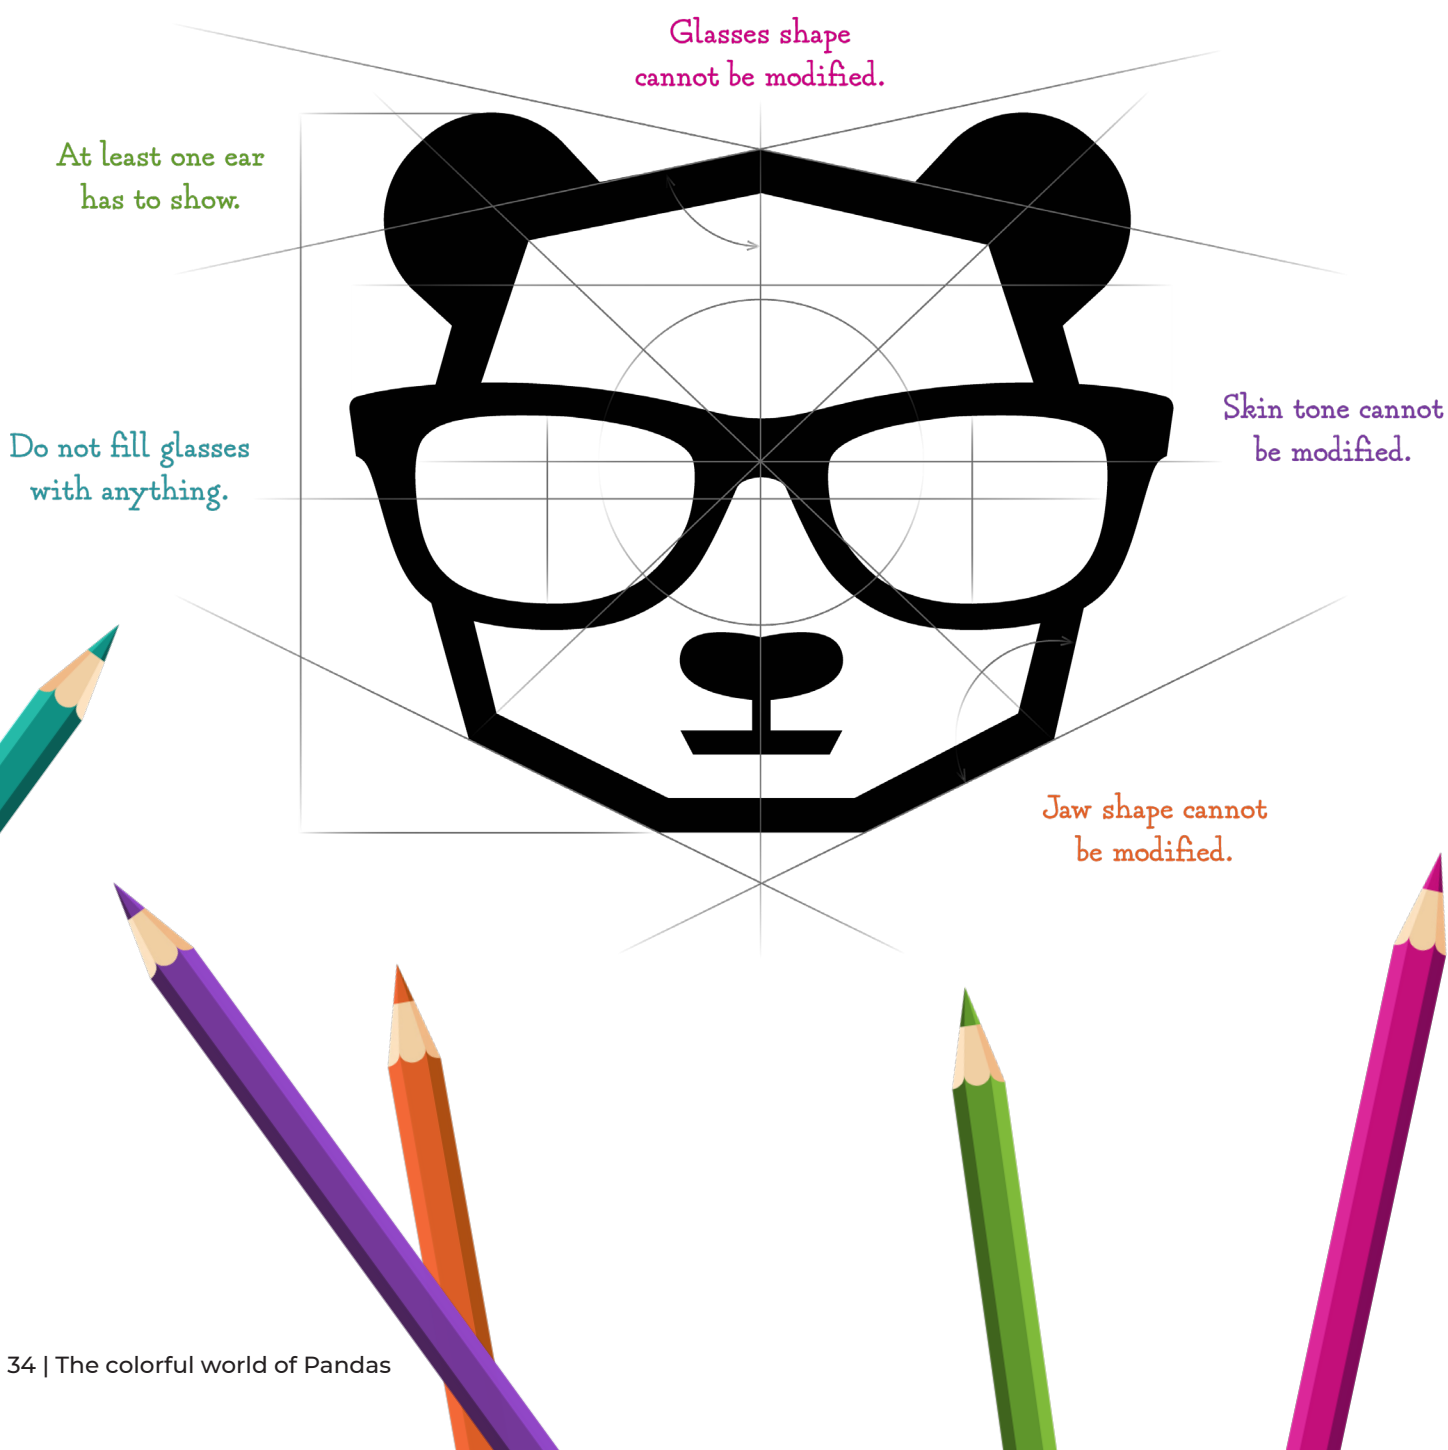

While London skies are usually grey, Bobby Panda and Big Ben deserve some color!
